

Water Measurement & Control Systems

Intermountain Environmental offers sales, support and systems integration. We sell and support products from dozens of manufacturers and we have the knowledge and experience to help you design and install a reliable monitoring system.

We are a Campbell Scientific authorized re-seller and integrator. We sell and support their products throughout the Western United States. Campbell Scientific builds high quality dataloggers and micro-control systems. We are happy to discuss with you the benefits of their systems and provide assistance with selecting or designing a monitoring and control system using the Campbell Scientific products.
